

The Johnsons' House

Hi! Welcome to the Johnsons' house! You are going to hear Mr. and Mrs. Johnson talking to their visitors about the rooms in their house. Mark each room they talk about with the correct number. There are eleven rooms, but you'll hear a description for only six of them.

Number One

Mr Johnson: Hi! Come in. Good to see you.
Mrs. Johnson: I'm so glad you were able to come over this evening.
Man: Hi! It's good to see both of you, too. It's been a while since we last got together.
Woman: I haven't been here since you redecorated. It looks great!
Mrs. Johnson: Well, it took us a while, but it's finally finished.
Woman: Wow! That's a new painting over the sofa, isn't it?
Mr. Johnson: Yes, we bought it when we were on holiday last year.
Man: The colours in the painting really go well with your sofa. Is that new, too?

Number Two

Woman: How do you like your new cooker?
Mrs. Johnson: Oh, I really like it. It's great to have the microwave above it, too. It took up so much space before.
Man: Did you always have an electric cooker?
Mrs. Johnson: Since we moved to this house. In the flat we had gas.
Man: We have an electric cooker, too.
Mr. Johnson: While we're in here, can I get everyone something to drink?

Number Three

Man: I bet the boys like these bunk beds.
Mrs. Johnson: They certainly do.
Woman: Liverpool and Oxford United. Who likes which one?
Mr. Johnson: Eric likes Liverpool, and Kevin likes Oxford United.
Mrs. Johnson: They both love football, though. They collect football cards and everything.
Man: I have some old football cards from years ago. Maybe we can do some trading!

Number Four

Woman: Oh, what a nice room. Is this a normal or a king-size bed?
Mr. Johnson: This is a normal size bed.
Mrs. Johnson: We were going to get a king, but then the dressing table and bedside table wouldn't have fitted on the same wall.
Man: It looks like you have a lot of wardrobe space.
Mrs. Johnson: Yes, you can never have too much of that it seems.
Woman: That's certainly true. Most of this wall is the wardrobe then?
Mr. Johnson: Yes, that's right.

Number Five

Man: Those are new doors on the shower, aren't they?
Mr. Johnson: Yes, they're sliding doors.
Mrs. Johnson: We used to have a green shower curtain before we got these.
Mr. Johnson: This one has the full size bath, but the other one has just got a shower and no bath.
Woman: That will be much needed when the kids get older!
Mrs. Johnson: You're right! I'm so glad we have it.
Woman: I really like how you've decorated this room.
Mrs. Johnson: Thank you. ... Yes, we both like it, too.

Number Six

Mrs. Johnson: It always feels a little cold down here.
Mr. Johnson: It's good in the summer, though, because it stays cool down here.
Woman: It's nice that you have somewhere to put your washing machine and dryer. We've got ours out in the garage at the moment.
Man: One of these days we'll add a utility room on, but not for a while yet.
Woman: Do the kids play down here sometimes?
Mr. Johnson: Now and then, but I'd say more often upstairs in the living room.
Mrs. Johnson: Before we go back up I think I'll get some more ice from the freezer.
